

Count the objects in each group. Then, draw a line to match each group to the number that shows how many.

